

General Overview:

We are looking for a responsible, energetic, and committed English teacher to join our staff at The English Academy, Rapa Nui. We have been teaching English to the local community for about 5 years, and our students range in age from pre-K, to teenagers and adult professionals working mainly in tourism (tour guides, archaeologists, anthropologists, hotel staff, restaurant managers, etc.).

We are located on a subtropical, Polynesian island which currently contains around 8,000 inhabitants, half of which are of the Rapa Nui descent. Many of our classes are lecture-based combined with outdoor excursions and activities (hikes, bike rides, trips to the beach, class at archaeological sites, etc.). As such, we provide personalized, high-energy classes that aim at merging high academic and scholastic standards with fun, motivating and culturally-relevant activities.

In 2017, we began building a new, larger facility, containing 2 indoor classrooms, 1 outdoor classroom (ideal for yoga, exercise classes, painting, planting & harvesting vegetables, etc.) a kitchen (for both staff use and for English-based cooking classes), 2 bathrooms, a reception area and a small student presentation room. We expect to be fully operating in our new facility in January 2018, and have the intention of duplicating our student numbers and improving our services to include more exposure to different English teachers, varying class formats (art, sports, cooking and painting classes), access to technology (computers, educational software programs, iPads, etc.) and improved curriculum content.

We also recommend a good pair of sneakers and flip-flops/sandals for general, everyday use in the summer and spring.
